My 11th birthday

The sixth of April this year was a special day. It was not only the Easter holiday but also my 11th birthday. As COVID-19 pandemic was over, we could go everywhere we liked. Now, let me tell you where I went and what I did on that day.

I thought it was excited to have birthday with going to school. My family and I woke up at eight in the morning. Then, we started to set off to Disneyland after having a delicious breakfast. We arrived there an hour later. Although it was easy, there were a lot of people already. I couldn't wait to start our amazing journey.

First, we played motor games. The "Mad Hatter Tea Cup" spun me drowsily. The "Ant-Man and the Wasp" is entertaining. The games were interesting and exciting. I wanted to try them again and again. Then, we watched a dance. The dancer's performance gracefully. The spired and turned prettily. Everyone in audience clapped and cheered for them. What's a wonderful show!

After that, we took photos with Disneyland character, Tinkerbell in the "Duffy and friends main street cinema". Tinkerbell is very cute. Everyone loves her very much. Last but not less, we watched the fireworks. It was stunting. The fireworks burst into the sky. It was as beautiful as it could be. Everyone cheered loudly during the fireworks.

After the fireworks. It was time to go home. I went home reluctantly. I hope I can have a wonderful birthday with my family next year.

Easter Holiday

Last Sunday was my fencing competition. When I woke up, I felt exciting, because this is a territory-wide competition.

But, when I arrived the sport centre, everything changes. I saw everyone was very tall! I was actually quite short! Well, my coach said if you're tall, it will be easier to fence. I've never been in large fencing competition before. So, I started feeling a bit nervous.

After waiting a little while, it's nearly the time for me to have my competition, so I got changed and did some warm-up exercise and started getting ready.

The competition started, of course, I won't win. But I thought that was a tie, because I won two times and lost two times. I am the third in the group, but still I can't get in the semifinal. So, I went back home, sadly.

Well, a surprising thing is, yesterday all the electricity suddenly turned off! It was really a big surprise for me. Because I've just watched the Harry Potter films a few days ago. So, when the electricity turned off, it let me think of the dementors and death eaters, or even the dark lord!

Luckily, the light turned on by itself ten minutes later.

Although I can't go to USA and watch NBA this Easter holiday, but I have fun staying at home, I have fun during different competitions, I have fun staying with my family and playing with my brother. I believe one day I might have a chance to travel to USA to watch NBA!

Majority of vampires in fairy-tales are written as blood-sucking but they never considered the possibility of vampires - they do not suck blood, but instead, they drink coconut water.

In a deserted island in the middle of the Pacific Ocean, home to hundreds of vampires. They were having their lunch fresh coconut water. Unlike the normal vampires, they do not crave blood, but they still are allergic to sunlight. Therefore, the sky was dark as a black hole.

The vampires are blessed by their ancestors, leaving them with an unlimited supply of food and a barrier around the island so that other can't see it from outside.

The vampires lived in peace, or eating no conflicts with any other being. They would like in peace forever, right?

Things don't always go as planned. One day a ship sails through the invisible barrier, no one noticed because was in the afternoon. The mysterious man casted a spell on the island, causing the island along with everything on it to disappear.

This wouldn't change anything for earth as a whole. Why did the man cast that spell? If humans find out about the invisible barrio, what would happen ...

Sharing an experience of crying for a long time.

Have you, could cry for a long time? Can you share with me? Let me talk about the reason I cried for a long time, how did I face it and what did I learn.

At the birthday party last year. Suddenly, my cat vomited some blood. I cried loudly. I ran to vet clinic with my parents as fast as we can. When we were waiting for my cat's checking, my mum hugged me said 'The vet will save it!' There gave us the bad news that my cay died! I shouted my cat name 'Doll! Doll!' I thought if we have doreamon in this century, it will save Doll!

I cried for a month. I didn't do any thing just stayed in my room with Doll photos. My mum came in my room and said 'All people and animal will be died on day, they can't stay with you all lifelong. So, you should believe Doll is gone. Doll wouldn't want to see you like this in the paradise. Now, you should listen some music to relax.'

One month later, I finally get over the Doll death and be a joyful child.

I learnt a lesson 'Time won't wait for on one. Treasure every moment you have.' It means time can't stop, so you need to cherish the people and moments with them.

Going to the Cinema

On a breezy Saturday, I went to the cinema and watch a firm with my family. The film was about mons. The cinema was dim and quiet. I could smell a brilliant scent from the mouth-watering pop-corn. I was very excited about the film.

Then, we sat down in our seats. The film was about to begin everyone fell silent, after a which I was bored to tears, because the film was very dull. The film dragged on and I fell asleep.

Suddenly, I heard a strident noise. A mobile phone was ringing. A man answered it and talked loudly. I was incensed by his disgusting action. Everyone was annoyed "Shh" they whispered.

My dad gave the man a dirty look. "Please keep quiet. Everyone would like to enjoy the film attentively. You are disturbing us." The man was embarrassed. He stopped chatting immediately. After the film ended, the man left the cinema as fast as he could. I have learnt that we must be considerate and make sure the phone is off when we are watching a film or a show.
