How would I describe myself?

Do you think I'm a cool person or a warm one? For me, I think I'm a warm person because I always seem to come across as friendly. And I'm also quite open-minded and affectionate.

I'm a pretty friendly person because I never give up when I'm in trouble. I'm also a helpful person as a class monitor so I can help others. I'm really caring and want to help those who are in need. And don't you know? I'm quite confident when I'm working hard on serious things. I seldom mess it up by doing something carelessly or clumsily.

I believe most of the classmates like me, hence I made quite a number of friends who are boys in 5L. Among them, Ethan and Lunn are my best buddies. We always play Chinese chess together at recess with great pleasure. I'm really pleased about Ethan's academic performance because he's the top student in his class. And I've been friends with Ethan for about two and a half years. Instead I only know Lunn in P.5. We have to treat each other nicely and help each other out if we want our friendship to last.

I think I'm pretty decent with nice personalities. I am so happy that I've got lots of friends. I truly hope all the friendship will stay strong and last forever.

Which one do you think is more precious, time or money?

I don't think I have enough time to use every day since I have a lot of things to do like doing my homework, reading, practicing the piano and watching TV.

Likewise, I'm also not satisfied with the amount of money my family have now because my parents always work overtime and have to go home late. Therefore, they barely have any time to hang out with me.

Yet, I agree that "time is more precious than money". It is because time is finite and irreplaceable, while money can be earned, saved and spent.

If I've a lot of money, I'll give it to my mother so she doesn't need to go out for work and hence will have a lot of time to accompany me. If I have more time, I'll go on a trip with my family.

In conclusion, time is more significant than money. With time, you can achieve anything you want, including wealth. Time can be used to make money but money can't be used to make more time.

Which one do you think is more precious, time or money?

I think I don't have enough time to use every day because there are so many things that I want to do, such as drawing, watching movies, playing badminton, studying and the list goes on.

I am happy about what my family and I have right now since we can afford any books I want to read and I don't have to be worried about eating or paying the bills. I feel rich inside and out.

Therefore, I think time is more precious. Benjamin Franklin once said "Time is money", which shows how important time is. What is more, if you lose money, you can easily earn it back, but if you lose time, you can never make it back.

If I have more money than I can imagine, I will buy books from all around the world. If I have more time than I can spend, I will spend it with my family and make the world a better place.

Which one do you think is more precious, time or money?

Everyone in the world only gets 24 hours a day, no matter how rich or supreme you are, you still can't get one more second of each day. Every day I want to do many tasks. Yet I still don't think that I have enough time to use. I keep on learning how to manage my time more efficiently. I am satisfied with the amount of money I have right now. Since I am still a child, I don't need a lot of money to buy many luxuries.

There is an age-old saying that "Time is Money". It is true as people need to work to earn their salaries. We spend our lifetime in an office working and earning money for our living. We can use time to earn money but we can't use money to buy time. I think that time is far more precious than money. Even though money is important and we can use it to buy anything significant to live a good life, but without time, money is meaningless to us. Time can neither be created nor destroyed.

If I have more time, I would like to spend it with my family and friends, maybe go out for a picnic or go hiking. If I have more money, I will give it to my family or donate it to charities to help refugees and displaced people who suffer from war.
